WHAT'S HOT!

1 / BLACK BEAUTIES

Kähler has reintroduced its Stora stone-ware collection, designed in the 1930s and newly updated with a black glaze (rather than the original yellow uranium coating). Prices range from $33 for a dessert plate to $160 for a teapot. urban-butik.com

2 / ROCK STAR

The Kabesa table by Celestina is shaped to resemble a fluted marble column. The lightweight piece, made of lacquered fiberglass, measures 20" w. x 18" h. x 12" d. and costs $975 at Barneys New York. It's available in turquoise graffiti, shown, as well as in brown and black. 212-826-8900; barneys.com

3 / PATTERN PLAY

Sferra's Flame Easycare placemat takes its cue from zigzagging ikat weaves. The 20" x 14" piece has a stain-resistant finish, comes in six colors, including navy, shown, and costs $20. The Chevron linen dinner napkin, also pictured in navy, makes an ideal accompaniment; a set of four costs $128. 877-336-2003; sferra.com

4 / LOUNGE ACT

At more than 8 feet long, the Dmitriy daybed, from Dmitriy & Co.'s new made-to-order collection, takes lounging to new lengths. Handcrafted with a walnut base and horse-hair construction, it measures 100" l. x 48" w. x 25.5" h., comes upholstered in Belgian linen, shown, and costs $11,500. It's also available c.o.m.
